From: peter soltz <psoltz29@gmail.com> Date: Wed, Sep 27, 2017 at 10:48 AM Modification to a shop vacuum pickup nozzle:

This vac. modification could also be done on a wider nozzle. I started with the nozzle that happened to have a notch in the edge which I widened out to a half circle using a round file. I inserted a 5/16" bolt x 3/4" long (under the head) from the inside with a washer under the head of the bolt. Then on the outside, I placed another flat washer, then a 608zz bearing (from VXB.com; $4.95 plus shipping for a package of 10!), then another flat washer, then a toothed washer, then the nut. I tightened the assembly up enough so that it didn't bind the bearing or fall out of the nozzle.

I found the magnets today at Harbor Freight. Item # 98406. They are 5/16 x 7/8 x 2", come two to a package for a whopping 99 cents. Epoxying a magnet to the inside top of the nozzle will catch any small steel washer, setscrew, etc that may have fallen and disappeared into the sawdust on the floor. When epoxying them inside the nozzle, be sure the lead edge of the magnet is not protruding beyond the edge of the nozzle or it will snag the floor

Item for sale – in case you missed Jim Silva's email......

Hey all, {From a member of the Cape club}

I would like to sell my current lathe so I can upgrade to a larger bed, larger capacity machine. Nova, 16/44, with 1.5 hp motor, 120v service. It is a 1 1/4 v8 tpi thread on the headstock. Will come with original accessories, except for spur drive. I have had it about 3 years, and it has been used but not abused, with very little turning of large logs, and mostly smaller items of dried wood. It will need to be disassembled and brought up from my basement shop. I can help with that but cannot do it alone. Asking $750 but willing to discuss price.

I appreciate your help with forwarding this on to potential buyers, especially if we could get it out soon.

Thanks for your help!! - Richard A. Wright, Carvewright Woodcarving, 33 Seahorse Rd, Harwich, MA 02645, (508) 246-1452
