President's Report and General Business

Hank received no correspondence. Wally reported $1645 in treasury. Lenny the Librarian has a new video on Segmented Turning for the library.

Mal distributed Luke Mann posters for November 8th demo. Exhibit cards for the Audubon exhibit were made available. The Golden Ratio books were made available for $10. The book is now available in paperback.

John Murphy has requested that the Gnome Rotary Engine be displayed at the Fuller Art Museum Gala.

Hank announced that North Bennet Street School will have an open house November 31st. & December 1st. Also we can demo at the Big E January 15 & 16, 2004. The interclub collaborative challenge is underway.

For those waiting for the diamond stones they will be ordered by Hank soon.

Members who attended the Albany, NY Woodturning Seminar reported on the well attended event. Photos by Lenny Langvin of the event were shown.

Wally Kemp has turnings for sale on the following web site: thesilverribbon.com. The shop is located in Duxbury. The site is worth a visit.

Angelo Iafrate was not elected to the AAW board. He reported on the way the election was held to the members. We need regional representation on the board.

Mal passed around a binder with newsletters from The Association of Revolutionary Woodturners from their web site: <http://revolutionary-turners.com/>. Check out their site- lots of good information.

A team to move Hank's lathe and get ready for the Luke Mann demonstration was organized for a Friday night session.

At the break the members wished Frank Iafrate a Happy Birthday. The delicious cake was enjoyed by all.
