He also distributed a binder with photographs of a Breakfast Flight in a twin engine antique Beechcraft airplane to Martha's Vineyard from Plymouth he and his wife received as a Christmas present. Also Newsletters from John Foster were in the binder along with woodturning articles and new tools. Magazines with woodturning articles were available for review.

Treasurer Wally Kemp reported $2081 in treasury and dues for 2008 are now due. He said that Audubon Farm Day will be Saturday, September 27th and the fee will be $35 if we will be selling at our demonstration.

Our Librarian was not present at the meeting, but new members were made aware of what is available in the library including woodturning videos and books.

Hand's On was set for Saturday, February 16, at Hank's Shop at 10am. (Editors note: Hank just informed me that there were 18 woodturning members at Hand's On today as I was working on this newsletter.)

Hank said that a few items, a Crock pot and gloves, were left from Christmas Party.

Sales results from our shortened 2007 Audubon exhibit were reported on by members who sold items.

Ken reported that the South Shore Art Center Festival will be held June 13,14 and 15. February 4th is due date for registration. Costs for the booth will be divided by those exhibiting and selling at the Festival as in the past.

Mike Veno suggested a Woodturner's Flea Market for the next meeting. (See below)

Bill Dooley had Hot Glue for sale at $10. Super glue not stolen (Hot) glue.

Nigel thanked the members who entertained his relatives from England at our Christmas Party. He also mentioned how good the bandsaw blades were from Woodcraft Bands, Inc., North Carolina. Available online at woodcraftbands.com

Ron Robertson reported on the Lyle Jamieson video "Bowl Basics Made Easy".

Jim Denker had his Ring Turning Tools for sale and promotional literature available.

A topic for future meetings was suggested:
Mistakes Made and how we corrected them.
(We don't make mistakes, we make slight errors)

NEW

Woodturner's Flea Market

Bring to the meeting, tools, wood, finishing material, Woodturning Books and Magazines, unfinished turnings, and anything else you want to sell, swap, or give away. If it's really big, bring a picture. All cash transactions will be subject to a Wally Tax if he is aware of them! Details on how this will work can be worked out at our meeting.
